6.1 Telling Public Radio's Story

Jump to question:

The purpose of this section is to give you an opportunity to tell us and your community about the activities you have engaged in to address community needs by outlining key services provided, and the local value and impact of those services. Please report on activities that occurred in Fiscal Year 2017. Responses may be shared with Congress or the public. Grantees are required to post a copy of this report (Section 6 only) to their website no later than ten (10) days after the submission of the report to CPB. CPB recommends placing the report in an "About" or similar section on your website. This section had previously been optional. Response to this section of the SAS is now mandatory.

Joint licensee Grantees that have filed a 2017 Local Content and Services Report as part of meeting the requirement for TV CSG funding may state they have done so in the corresponding questions below, so long as all of the questions below were addressed as they relate to radio operations in such report. You must include the date the report was submitted to CPB along with the TV Grantee ID under which it was submitted.

Jump to question:

1. Describe your overall goals and approach to address identified community issues, needs, and interests through your station's vital local services, such as multiplatform long and short-form content, digital and in-person engagement, education services, community information, partnership support, and other activities, and audiences you reached or new audiences you engaged.

Our goals this year have been to expand our services in local content and broadcast, particularly to engage the educational system in our communities. We have worked to create broad partnerships through our Borough, public health system, local schools and the other main pillars. By creating these partnerships we have been able to identify local needs and work to create services that meet these needs. As state level budget cuts have hit us hard over the past 3 years it has become more difficult to house a staff that is able to pursue all the opportunities we have before us. We are hoping to create better funding from local and municipal revenue streams in order to meet these needs. All the activities we have done out of the collaborations spoken about above have been outlined in the sections below, but I would also like to note the genuine benefit of our CAB in helping to come up with excellent ideas to meet our community where they are and offer the most benefit we can with the resources we have.

6.1 Telling Public Radio's Story

Jump to question:

2. Describe key initiatives and the variety of partners with whom you collaborated, including other public media outlets, community nonprofits, government agencies, educational institutions, the business community, teachers and parents, etc. This will illustrate the many ways you're connected across the community and engaged with other important organizations in the area.

KSDP has continued its efforts to engage our community listeners through 2 significantly new avenues this past year. On top of all the usual means of reaching our community (news, PSA's, community festivals, internships, etc.) we have started two things that I believe will be especially powerful. First, we are in the final stages of connecting a microwave link between our studios and the schools. This is being paired with a recently commissioned FM station in Sand Point that is focused on student engagement and listening. Our first means for student engagement centers around creating access to the FM automation. We are using a completely open source automation software (possibly the only ones in Alaska to be using this program), and teaching the kids the values of working with open source and in a Linux environment. We are also planning on teaching the students networking skills and how to operate computers remotely over a Local Area Network. This goes on top of the usual radio skills, such as DJ, music, programming and automation. A station representative is currently on the curriculum design committee for technology and science to help make this a permanent part of the educational programs of the school. Our second goal is also focused on education, and that is to collaborate with the local school district to create a language arts component for journalism and media literacy. There is no question regarding the needs of educating teens on proper media consumption given the tremendous rates of consumption. We have begun discussions with the school to enact some permanent fixtures into the language arts courses. I believe this will have a significant impact on the lives and education of the students in our communities and look forward to beginning this work.

6.1 Telling Public Radio's Story

Jump to question:

3. What impact did your key initiatives and partnerships have in your community? Describe any known measurable impact, such as increased awareness, learning or understanding about particular issues. Describe indicators of success, such as connecting people to needed resources or strengthening conversational ties across diverse neighborhoods. Did a partner see an increase in requests for related resources? Please include direct feedback from a partner(s) or from a person(s) served.

Our work to partner with the Clinic for a Family Fun Day and a Youth Soccer Camp got a strong positive response from the community at large. Most of the youth in our community participated in the soccer camp and it was a great way to provide a positive and fun environment for the youth, while encouraging hard work and team effort. The family fun day was also important because it was an opportunity for the local health clinic to share about its family programming, and giving whole families a fun activity to do together. Our partnership with the school, which has resulted in the FM has more people tuning into our radio station than ever in recent history. The exciting thing is that these people are also a lot younger than our typical audience, so we are reaching to new demographics. As the students get more opportunity to have their fingers on the FM broadcast and technology I hope that this will turn into a service that members in our community want to support. Right now most of our measurement is based on verbal responses from the community in support of the actions taken.

4. Please describe any efforts (e.g. programming, production, engagement activities) you have made to investigate and/or meet the needs of minority and other diverse audiences (including, but not limited to, new immigrants, people for whom English is a second language and illiterate adults) during Fiscal Year 2017, and any plans you have made to meet the needs of these audiences during Fiscal Year 2018. If you regularly broadcast in a language other than English, please note the language broadcast.

Much of our programming is geared towards a Native-centric position. We hope to continue this by providing more Alaskan programming and Native focused content, but only as is desired from our listeners. We also have continued to work on providing regional/local news content and interviews that pertain to Native and regional interests. Having State and National leaders on air to discuss what is occurring through the government has helped to engage on more statewide and federal matters, while municipality broadcasts are encouraging the Native community to partake in their local civic matters.

5. Please assess the impact that your CPB funding had on your ability to serve your community. What were you able to do with your grant that you wouldn't be able to do if you didn't receive it?

Being a sole service station it is impossible to overestimate the impact CPB funding has on our station. It is no exaggeration to say our communities would get nothing like the service they do now without this revenue stream. KSDP is in no way a glorified translator, we work to provide local services that meet specific needs in our communities that nobody else can. It is also thanks to CPB that we are not just standing still as an entity, but moving ahead to offer more opportunities and services to our villages.

7.1 Journalists

Jump to question:

This section builds on the Census of Journalists conducted by CPB in the summer of 2010. These positions are the primary professional full-time, part-time or contract contributors to local journalism at your organization. The individuals in these positions will have had training in the standards and practices of fact-based news origination, verification, production and presentation. These are generally accepted titles for these positions but may not match position descriptions at your organization exactly. Please do your best to account for each professional journalist in your organization. Please do not count student or volunteer journalists.
